Supplies for Watercolor

For those seeking links:

Paper:

- A $12 (sale for $6) +Prime watercolor pad. Solid brand, versatile size. The paper I usually use.
- Wire-bound version, $14 on Prime.
- Students looking for smaller sizes can either divide these papers, or look for smaller versions that are still "140lb".

Brush options:

- A $25 brush set (Prime). Greater variety of more quality brushes and comes with a zippered case.

Paint options*:

- The watercolor paint I use ($21 on Prime)
- An alternative choice for about the same price ($23 on Prime).
- A cheaper option ($15-18, sometimes Prime), for lower quality overall.

*These sets do come with a single brush, but it will not be enough for the paintings we'll be
